English Rails Coming

H. C. Stone, a well-known busines man of San Diego, has received letters from relatives in Belfast saying that six ships has been chartered to sail six ships has been chartered to sail from England to Sau Diego with steel rails, one of the ships to sail during the latter part of November, the others to sail soon thereafter. The inference was given that the rails are for use on the long-talked-ut read to be built by the English co pany which has purchased the concession of the International Company of Mexico between Ensenada, San Diego and Yuma.

A Remarkable Showing.

Last evening's Carson Tribune says In no county in the State are taxes closer collected than in Ormsby. The tax roll of this county for 1889 amounted to $49,775 49, and County Treasurer Tobriner reports to the Tribune that he collected $49,480 99, leaving only $294 50 delinquent. Ormsby is not a very large county, but it is one of the most solid financially in the State.

The Jury Bribers. An effort is being made to have Northey and Crighton, the jurybribers pardoned out of the California penitentiary. They were but the tools of Morrow and as long as they shield their boss, they had better remain where they are. They refused to testify against Morrow on his trial, expecting that he would protect them.

They are now threatening to squeal unless pardoned.

OPPOSED TO MONOPOLIES. Evil Effect of Corpora-

Senator Stewart said at the water neeting last night that all Senator Stanford wanted was to know that Taboe would not fall into the bands of a monopoly and then the people would be able to make liberal terms with him. The Governor has undoubtedly seen the evil effects of corporations and, being of a philanthropic turn in his old age, does not want to leave any-thing behind him that looks like a monopoly. The Governor is evidently correct in his conclusions, and the sooner the people convince him that there will be no monopoly of the water and get an agreement with him that will enable our peope to go ahead and store the waters of Tahoe, the better.

The Montana Muddle Still Unsettled.

Why Dom Pedro Fell-A Comstock Miner Killed.

Killed by a Woman.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.-This morning Stephen Peters, one of the Brocklyn Bridge Trustees, was shot and killed by Hannah Southworth, aged 30 years. She refused to give her residence.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.-Later.-S. L. Pettus, secretary and treasurer of the Brooklyn Union Elevated Railroad, and a member of Pollard, Pettus & Co., 54 Broadway, in this city, was shot dead this morning on Fulton street by Miss Hannah Southworth, who refused to give her address to the police when arrested.

Just before 10 o'clock, while Fulton street was crowded with people who had just landed from the ferry, a young woman wearing a long sealskin coat trimmed with fur was seen hurrying along behind a well-dressed man.

When in front of No. 10 Fulton street she pulled a large revolver from beneath her dress and fired five shots in quick succession at the man in front of As the victim writhed and tossed in agony on the sidewalk the woman looked calm and self-possessed, and actually smiled with apparent satisfaction. In a short time a great crowd had gathered to the spot, attracted by the repeated pistol shots.

As the officers arrested her she hissed between her teeth, raising herself to her full height and assuming a dramatic position, and pointing to the lifeless body on the sidewalk: "That man betrayed me, and I have shot him. He ruined me and my family.' The woman was taken to the police station and locked up. She remained calm and dignified, and gave the name of Hannah Southworth, but refused to give her residence.

All five balls took effect in the body of her victim. The same woman attacked Pettus in public a year ago.

special to the GAZETTE] VIRGINIA, Nov. 22.-Richard Granville, a miner employed in the Gould & Curry, was instantly killed this morning. Deceased was easing the timbering of the Bonner shaft above the 1000-foot level. He was standing on a plank floor over the top of a chute with almost a vertical inclination. down which was dumped the material removed in easing the timbers. George Allen, who was working near Granville, heard a crash, and soon after discovered that the latter had disappeared. Allen boarded the cage and descended to the chute bottom, seventy feet below, where he found Granville's dead body with the neck broken. A broken plank at the chute bottom indicated that the flooring of the chute top, on which Granville stood, was crushed by a mass of loose rock falling from the top of the raise he was making behind the shaft timbering. Deceased was a native of England, 36 years of age, and leaves a wife and three children.

HELENA, Montana, Nov. 22,-The Legislature meets at noon to-morrow. Probably two-thirds of the members are already here, accompanied by a large sprinkling of State politicians. Both sides are holding caucusses to deeide upon their course of action. It is believed there will be dual bodies of the House and that neither party will bave a quorum in the Senate. The Democratic County Commissioners yesterday created a sensation by tak-ing possession of the legislative halls, expelling the janitor, putting new Yale locks on all the doors and placing a watchman to guard all approaches to the halls. To-day the keys of the halls will be turned over to Governor Toole to whom the County Commissioners have leased the rooms. It is thought the Republican members will meet separately, should the representatives of Silver Bow county, certified by the State canvassing board, be denied admittance. The politicians of both sides talk of fighting to the end, yet a small number favor a compromise on the basis of one Senator from each party and a division of legislative Times' " Counsel Still Talking.

By Cable and Associated Press.] London, Nov. 22.-Sir Henry James continued his speech for the Times. He said that Parnell paid W. M. Raymond 170 pounds and promised Raymond would be called to explain why the payment was made. Sir Henry James attempted to show step by step how the Clan-na-Gael became paramount in the body which represented the Irish-American movement and controlled and directed its operations. He emphasized the fact that Parnell did not denounce the use of dynamite, and quoted from an article in the Irishman, praising Parnell for the stand he had taken. New London, Conn., Nov. 22.-The revenue steamer Dexter arrived this morning with Captain Jenny and fourteen of the crew of the Old Dominion Line steamer Manhattan, and also the body of Chief Engineer Hayden. The Captain reported that his steamer was bound from New York for West Point, of Maryland, he was run into by an unknown four-masted schooner, and the Manhattan sunk soon after. Those brought here on the Dexter managed to get into the lifeboat, save Mr. Hayden, who was drowned. The rest of the crew and three passengers nineteen in all, got on a life-raft, and it is not known whether they have been saved or not.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.-The steamship Manhattan, which left for West Point, Va., Tuesday afternoon with thirty-five passengers, collided with the schooner Agnes Manning and went to the bottom. At least fifteen lives are supposed to have been lost. The first information received of the disaster was given in the Associated Press dispatches from New London. At the company's office information was received which pointed to the fact that, in all probability, over twenty persons were lost. The vessel's crew numbered thirty-two. She also carried three steerage passengers. The vessel was valued at $150,000. Her cargo was light.

good profit on a margin of a half a cent a pound between raw and refined sugar, and that in the last two years the difference has averaged more than a cent and a quarter a pound, statements that the trust has not laid up a large sum of money may be dismissed as unreliable. The fact, says the Boston Herald, that certificates of the trust sell at a low valuation considering the amount of dividends earned upon them may be accounted for in a number of ways without reflecting upon the present earning powers of the trust. One sufficient reason for current market prices is the irresponsible character of the trust. The purchaser of a certificate puts his money into the keeping of a body of men who never make a report to him, who can pay How a Foolhardy Young Pennsylvanian the earnings of the enterprise or rut them into their pockets, and who have, in short, to be blindly trusted or trusted not at all. It is not singular that those who are not exceedingly speculative or exceedingly credulous should look upon these securities with very great suspicion.

THE nations of Southern Europe seem to have tided over the financial crisis which has threatened for some years past, and the drift of affairs points to more prosperous conditions. The quarterly reports from the Treasury Departments of Spain and Portugal since the bcginning of the present fiscal year show a heavy increase in receipts, with a corresponding reduction in expenditures. The latest report is from Italy. Here, says the Post, the receipts of the Treasury Department have increased during the quarter ending September 80th 19,000,000 lire as compared with the same three months of 1888, while the expenditures of the vasides to economize and accumulate substantial cash reserves. URUGUAY'S NABOB.

The Interesting Story of a Philadelphian's Success in South America. In the republic of Peru there are but two Protestant churches, one is at Callao, and its pastor is young Mr. Thompson, formerly of Philadelphia. The church is unsectarian. At Montevideo one of the most beautiful of the villas belongs to another Philadelphian, Mr. W. D. Evans, who, according to Curtis' "Capitals of Spanish America," has a ro-

"Capitals of Spanish America," has a romantic history:

Thirty years ago Mr. Evans shipped as mate on a sailing-vessel bound for Uruguay. She was wrecked off the coast by one of the ill winds which seamen meet, and he was cast ashore, penniless and friendless. All the property he had in the world were an ordinary ship's boat which he had saved from the wreck, and the clothing which he wore. But he had a strong reserve in the form of muscle, courage and manliness, and with his boat commenced life as a Cargador—that is, a longshoreman The most conflicting statements are circulated concerning the operations and conditions of the sugar trust. If we are to believe certain reports, the managers of the trust have not only failed to make hay while the sun shines, and in this way lay up a large sum of money, but are now losing money by suspending the operations of their refineries. In view of the known fact that it is possible for the very large refineries to make a good profit on a margin of a half a was all the property he owned in the world, and he intended to make a fortune out of it yet. They liked the spirit of the man, and helped him to put his boat in sailing trim, wishing him good-luck as he started back to

In the center of the finest private park in the River Platt country is a handsome bronze fountain which must have cost several thousand dollars. In its basin, casting a shadow over myriads of gold-fish and speckled trout floats Mr. Evans' old boat, the most precious piece of property he owns, and he is said to be worth millions. He never allows a day to pass without visiting the fountain, and no guest ever comes to the Evans quinta who is not brought to bow to the idol. There is something pathetic in the affection and reverence which the millionaire shows for the rotten old tub. "She has saved my life twice," says Mr. Evans to every body, "and when I was flat broke, she was my only friend. You gentlemen may not notice any thing pretty about her. but she is the most beautiful thing I ever

A SHARK'S DINNER.

We had been fishing for sea bass in Great Egg Harbor, says the Detroit Free Press, and had hauled in our lines to eat luncheon, when, glancing over the port-quarter of the yacht, I encountered the eyes of a shark. His snout and head were there, of course, but I scarcely saw any thing but the eyes.
The water was as clear as glass, and he was not more than two feet above the surface. Such eyes! They hadn't the fire of a serpent's nor the glassy green of a mad dog's, but there was something so devilish in the way he stared at me—some thing so murderous and malignant—that I yelled right out and was made the butt of ridicule. One and all, except the sailor in charge of the boat, vigorously denied that I had seen a shark. When he was appealed to be scheely replied: to, he soberly replied:

"I can not say, but I know that man-est-

We had with us a young man from West-ern Pennsylvania, a tall, raw-boned, demon-strative chap, whose clatter no one could keep still when we had our lines out. When we had finished luncheon he uttered another sneer at my pale face, pulled off his coat and gritery and standing up on the coat and gaiters, and, standing up on the rail, he crowed like a cock and shouted: "I'm going to give that shark a chance to get a good dinner!"

With that he sprang overboard and swam about fifty feet. There was only a ruffle of a sea on, and he was a swimmer who would have thought nothing of a mile pull. The beatman shouted to him to come back, but the others laughed and the swimmer laughed with them. I was standing up in rious departments of the administration has been 11,500,000 less than in the corresponding period.

The disposition is apparent on all sides to economize and accumulate Five seconds later the swimmer heaved himself up breast high, flung his arms over his head, and uttered a scream which yet rings in my ears. Then be disappeared, and the awful silence among us was broken by the voice of the boatman, saying: "He has been pulled down by a man-face was the dorsal fin of a shark. There was the shriek—a splash—a swirl—and nothing more. The shark had his dinner.

A Mistake Often Made. Boys and young men sometimes start out in life with the idea that one's success depends on sharpness and chicanery. They imagine if a man is able always to "get the best of a bargain," no matter by what de-ceit and meanness he carries his point, that ceit and meanness he carries his point, that his prosperity is assured. This is a great mistake. Enduring prosperity can not be founded on cunning and dishonesty. The tricky and deceitful man is sure to fall a victim, sooner or later, to the influences which are forever working against him. His house is built upon the sand, and its foundation will be certain to give way. Young people can not give these truths too much weight. The future of that young man is safe who eschews every phase of double-dealing, and lays the foundation of his career in the enduring principles of everlasting truth.

One Huclarinen, of Helsingfors, Finland, was during his life believed to be on friendly footing with the devil. His will leaves all his land and property to that individual, and the authorities of Finland are much troubled what to do.

BOOTON

Went to San Francisco and spent the past two weeks purchasing a

Stock of Fall and Winter Goods,

The giganticness of which cannot be fully realized in any way but b calling to see it at the OPERA HOUSE DRY GOODS STORE, an will only say that the Prices at which he intends to sell his new stock will be unprecedented n the history of dry goods in Reno, as "Quick Sales and Small Profits " is his motto in business.

To enumerate his stock and give it entire justice he should have all the columns of a newspaper devoted to his advertisement only, but as he cannot get any more room in the columns of this paper, he will only enumerate some of his special heavy importations.

First—His stock of

Men's Underwear

At the following prices, note them: 20 dozen of men's white merino shirts and drawers at 35c each, regular price, 75 cents. 31 dozen of men's silver grey shirts and drawers at 75c each, regular price, $1 00. 49 dozen of men's shirts and drawers, California grey, at $1 00 each, regular price, $2 00. 52 dozen Virginia & Truckee shirts and drawers, all-wool, at $1 50 These Goods are of special value and sell on sight. See them.

33½ dozen extra heavy shirts and drawers, Oregon Mills manufacture, at $2 00 each. These goods would be counted cheap at $3. 35 dozen Norfolk and New Brunswick brown vicuna at $2 50 each generally sold for $3 50 each.

50 dozen men's seamless Rockford socks at $1 50 per dozen that are being sold everywhere in this city for $3 00 per dozen.

An Endless Variety of Ladies', Misses and Children's Undeawear,

In all grades, In the

Comforter and Blanket Line

It is well known he is headquarters for those goods. Comforters ranging in price from $1.00 to $5.00 each. Golden Gate white and Carries a Complete Stock of Pure Drugs and Chemicolored blankets are a specialty.

In the Clothing Department

He carries a complete and well-selected stock. Note a few of his specialties in this line, viz: 25 suits of men's, all-wool, English colored corkscrew, custom-made at only $20 00 a suit, usually retailed for $35. A fine line of black corkscrew suits at $20 00. A fine line of mixed English chevoit suits at $18 00 A very fine line of black corkscrew suits at $12 50 a suit. The usual price asked for these goods in the city is $17 00

BERRY & NOVACOVICH, A Large Assortment of Hats and Caps Always on Hand.

In the Dress Goods Department

He has added a fine and well-selected stock of all the leading shades of French armures, French brocades and English chevoits, which are offered at prices that defy competition.

In the Shoe Department

It is well known that he is the only agent in this city for the Famous Nolan Brothers' Shoes.

He has also in stock Cahn, Nickleburg & Co.'s fine shoes, whose

Calicoes and Ginghams

In Endless Variety.

Having purchased the above goods for CASH ONLY, is a sure guarantee that he can sell goods at a lower price than any house that purchases goods on long time.

To convince yourself that all the above statements are corrected at the Opera House One-Price Cash Dry Goods Store,

Croup Can be Prevented

We want every mother to know that eroup can be prevented. There is no questior about this; as it has been done in thousands of cases, and been done in thousands of cases, and you may depend upon it but when a child takes the croup, it is owing to the negligence of its pareins. True croup never appears without due and timely warning; a few hours, or a day before the attack, the child-becomes hourse. This hourseness is the first libdication of croup, and is a sure sign that croup is to follow, maless promptly and properly treated. The free use of Chamberlan's Cough Ramedy as directed with each bottle, under the heading "To prevent croup" will dispel all symptoms of the disease. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

WHY WOMEN FAIL

Need of Special Training for Ordinary Occupations

nelishwoman's View of the Situation in Her Own Country-Superficial

Vs. Useful Knowledge-Looking to the Future. " I wonder any man alive

ould ever rear a daughter." Even so long ago as the date of this old opera, we unfortunate women were felt to be an inconvenience and a perplexity, and the recent correspondence on the subject of "Our Daughters" in a daily paper has clearly proved that a quiverful of daughters is by no means regarded as an unmitigating blessing.

Some of the correspondents wrote as though drowning were a trifle too good for the unlucky surplus—some eight or nine hundred thousand—for whom there are no husbands available. I think it is time that some woman should protest against the commonly-received idea that all English girls are brought up to regard marriage as the end and aim of their existence. Providence created the woman as a belpmeet for the man, it is true. But that was when there was only one man, and even then Providence granted her a separate soul and an individuality of her own. Now that there are more, far more, Englishwomen than there are Englishmen, it surely time that we should look things in the face and recognize the fact that there are too many of us to be disposed of matri-monially. With a sentiment that was partly composed of chivalry, and partly arose from reluctance to place women on the same intellectual footing with themselves, men have for centuries kept us back, supported us by their own labors, and surrounded us with average months. rounded us with every comfort possible to their efforts, denying us only the delicious luxury of independence. Legally, we were classed with children and fools. Until a few years ago, women with husbands had no property of their own. Every thing belonged to the male partner in the unequal bargain. The laws concerning us were framed upon the supposition that we were unfit to deal with preparty.

But of late a juster and more equitable state of things has come about, thanks to the kindly exertions of some few men, who perceived the injustice of treating women as though they were idiots. But men at large are now beginning to reap the harvest they themselves have sown. Had daughters n given half the chances bestowed as a matter of course upon sons, the present generation of girls would be at least as self-supporting as their brothers. But fathers have not yet awakened to the truth that their daughters could and would make their way in the world quite as well as the sons. outcry as to what they shall do with their daughters is merely the natural consequence of what they have done with them hitherto. The ordinary father thinks he has done all his duty by his girls if he has them well-educated at some fashionable school, where every girl is taught exactly the same things quite apart from her special capacities or her individual tastes. The sons are brought up to professions, as a matter of course. Money is lavished on them; so much money, in fact, that the father is often unable to execute the insurance on his life that would make some pro-vision for his daughters in the event of his death. We all know what happens when the bread-winner dies. No need to describe the miseries endured by girls who have al-ways been sheltered in a happy home, and who find themselves thrown on the cold world without any equipment against its rigors.

But fathers are now beginning to awake to the exigencies of the case. Sensible men realize that the education obtainable at the ordinary fashionable schools is no education at all in the true sense of the word. It is a laying on rather than a bringing out. What a girl needs is that whatever talent lies within her shall be brought forth, develope and cultivated to its very highest pitch of perfection. What is her favorite pursuit, next to novel reading, tennis playing and consuming sweets? Every girl has some special aptitude, and in it should be recognized the germ of future independence.

Even the so-called stupid girls can do-some one thing better than other things, and the full battery of education should be dithe full battery of education should be di-rected straight upon the one point, instead of being fruitlessly wasted upon the inevit-able piano, water-color drawing and the usual smattering of continental languages. Why on earth should every girl learn music! Nine-tenths of those who do are absolutely destitute of the musical sense. To them it is unmitigated drudgery, and of what possible use is it to any one else? Who has not suffered from them and their dreadful "practicing?" It is pure waste to teach them, and the miseries endured by their wretched instructors can never be estimated. The false notes that is more than mated. The false notes that jar upon the rest of the matter to the girls themselves Provided with the means of independence they will readily find a way to utilize it omen ready to face the work-aday world, a thousand new ways will be found in which they may profitably busy themselves without encroaching on the dothemselves without encroaching on the do-mains of man. Thoroughness is what we want. It is one of the rarest qualities in the world, and the woman or girl who has learned to do even the simplest task with absolute and perfect thoroughness is never-likely to fail for want of occupation. There is abundance of demand for such as these. Thoroughness, even in some simple matter, develops conscientiousness, which, indeed called a part of true thoroughness. may be called a part of true thoroughness. And what a rare treasure is the conscientious, thorough woman when found! England is full of failures, both men and women, who have failed from lack of this very quality. That women should fall is only to be expected, for they have enjoyed no advantages of training or special education as men have. It is almost impossible to get a good governous who conthines with to get a good governess who combines with the talent of teaching the no less important faculty of moral training. The great mass of nursery governesses and companions are absolutely inefficient, these two occupations being only resorted to by those who are quite incompetent to follow any other.

factory dress-maker or seamstress. They are nearly all superficial and un-thorough to coin a word. But with special training and technical teaching a new era may be hoped for. Women have been wasted, for the most part, until now, and with the de-velopment of their working faculties will come a great surprise for those who have for so long a period underrated their powers. Woman has till lately been regarded rather in the light of a cadenza in music, or a flourish in caligraphy; something ornamental which has no absolute raison d'etre and which could easily be spared.

There is just this germ of truth in the idea that we are certainly supplementary, so to speak; and in looking about for occupation we must bear that fact in mind, and seek for work that is supplementary to that of men. We shall thus have a better chance men. We shall thus have a better chance of success than we would be likely to secure by coming directly into competition with them. This idea may seem abject and "very 'umble" to some of the strong-minded ladies of whom we wot, and whose device appears to be, aut Casar, aut nullus;" but after all there are thousands of women. but, after all, there are thousands of women who very much prefer the situation of Cæsar's wife to being Cæsar himself; and who, from choice, select those occupations that appeal to the more graveful fancy of a woman, that need her lighter touch, delicate sense of neatness and order, and appeal to her especially just because she is an educated gentlewoman, and not a man. Twenty years hence it will be found of occupations will be open to Englishwomen, and they will be able to rejoice in the pleasing circumstance that no man need bewail the surplus of unmarried women, but rather that all sensible male beings (there will be more of that sort then) will con-gratulate themselves upon the fact that there is an unmarried surplus to make the outside world pleasanter and brighter, and to make many things go smoothly that now jar and creak and work unsatisfactorily for want of the gentle and discriminating touch of the well-trained feminine hand.— Mrs. Humphrey, in London Society.

THE WILD CARIBOU.

How This Noble Animal Amuses Himself and His Mates. It is as fond of the ice as a school-boy, and full as ready for a frolic, says Harper's Mag-azine. After the ice has formed in November, it is soon followed first by snows, and then by thaws or rain. The latter converts the snow into slush, resting on the firm ice beneath. Now, any sensible creature would keep away from such a mess. But not so the caribou, for to it this makes the very gala time of the year. The herd go out upon the ice in single file, then scatter, and each one falls to pawing up the slush with his forefeet. After they have tired of this performance, they fall upon their knees, and seem to lap the ice with their tongues. Why they do this is, as far as the writer been able to learn, a mystery. It certainly is not from thirst, since they have crossed a dozen open brooks in their morng ramble. Perhans to use one of slang expressions so happily indefinite in leaving unbridled liberty of detail to the imagination of the hearer, "they do it for grandeur." This is the most simple, and indeed at times it seems the only, explana-tion of many of the vagaries of this most singular creature. After awhile one will suspend operations, seem to think things over generally, then go gravely over to where another has mined down to a piece of ice of extra flavor, and prod and poke it with the utmost vigor. The assaulted party rises to its feet, and meekly resigns its place to the intruder, which immediately drops upon its knees and continues the operations of its predecessor, while the oust-ed either passes along the compliment by routing out another, or proceeds to dig a new spot for itself. Then perhaps all will lie down for awhile, and, though one would think the bed about as congenial as the inside of an ice-cream freezer, chew the cud in apparently the acme of bovine comfort. Next, one will slowly rise to its feet, round up its back, and stretch itself, feet, round up its back, and stretch itself, survey its comrades to select the one which seems most comfortable, and then, actuated by that perversity of disposition we so often see and anathematize in the human early riser, proceed to stir it up with hoof and horn, until it, too, gets upon its legs and joins in the game. Soon all are on their feet, and falling in one behind the other, move for the woods in single file, headed by the leader—always a bull, though not inthe leader—always a bull, though not invariably the largest in the herd. They move off at a walk, their heads hanging down pre-cisely like cows driven to pasture. Sud-denly one will become possessed of a devil, and breaking from the ranks with a hop, skip and a jump, charge through the line again and again, until it is thrown into com-plete disorder. Then it will as suddenly fall into place as a convex as a car, saying plete disorder. Then it will as suddenly fall into place, as demure as a cat, saying, as distinctly as an attitude can speak: "What! you do not mean to charge this untimely disturbance to me, do you!" The march is then resumed, and all may disappear at the meekest kind of a walk in the surrounding forest; or, without the slightest apparent cause, the herd will break into a run at a pace so keen you almost fancy wretched instructors can never be estimated. The false notes that jar upon the sensitive, musical ear; the heavy, soulless touch; the repetition of precisely the same mistakes, notwithstanding constant correction; these things must make the life of a music teacher a hard one. And why should every girl be taught to play on the puano!

It is by no means the ideal instrument at its best, and nowadays no one who can help it ever listens to an amateur. The time that is devoted to such lessons would be much better spent in learning some more congenial lesson.

Perhaps the root of this universal pianolearning is that men are supposed to like wives who can play. But the inefficient performers invariably "give up their music" when they mary. Fortunately for their near neighbors the piano is seldom opened. It is but loss of time to learn it, unless there is a decided taste for music. Dancing is a necessary accomplishment, of course. No girl gets on in society who does not dance, but there are signs of the decadence of this social pastime. On the whole, the "accomplishments" of the modern girl are undergoing a radical change.

The useful is beginning to supersede the superficial. If only every father would have his daughters technically taught some profession or business, in the same way a safely leave the
